MRS. POTTER'S DEBUT.

Ringing Noises

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh has very disagreeable especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from the nose, ringing noises in the ears, and pain in the back of the head. This effect is often the result in the morning in hawking and spitting that patient. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me entire satisfaction, which is what I can sincerely testify to. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I believe it a duty, to employ it well." MRS. A. E. PAGE, 100 Higbie Street, E. St. Louis, Ill.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

That Tinkling

"I have been troubled with catarrh and in consequence thereof the ordinary sound particles of air in the ear. That was called a continuous tinkling. But one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla relieved me to such a degree that I continued to use it for three months, when I was entirely cured. I have not since been troubled with catarrh." MRS. OUR TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1890.

Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee, it will be remembered, was the candidate of the Democratic party at the recent election, chosen in an interregnum that no regular has. Harrison will recommend to Congress that it shall provide the rate and qualifications of those to the Senate of Colorado and the Territories, and also that it shall submit a prohibitory amendment to the people of the various States. It will prefer the smaller rates who is not a Prohibitionist that this is a sufficiently and progressive view of the duties of the present session of Congress. It will be well for Democratic Congress must again attempt to satisfy this wrong. If the best way to the best is hard learned enough in the Government economy and duty during Congress is to act the duty of Congress in of the Iowa Legislature to make those forces are which by means of an appropriation for that purpose.

THE ARE THEM PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER.

The proposition to look the President to our party has not only been brought to the attention of Congress by the messages of Jefferson and the inaugural of Harrison but it has been, within a comparatively recent period, very frequently, though briefly, by that body. The subject seems to be the fourth to receive the attention of Congress, however, will doubtless be welcomed with it, because by an strong a portion of the people that it must be considered by the Government. Whether the Government will ever be able to secure the services of the ablest men in the country for the Presidency, or whether it will be compelled to take the best it can get from the second class, is a question which is of the greatest importance to the people of the United States. It is quite useless of performing that greatest duty imposed and will no doubt be good to undertake it magnanimous and noble. Should be fail the new chances to right him and on some future occasion to come to the appointment to the Cabinet. Cabinet, of course, is subject to the good of honor for the next four years and much harm to all America, but it would seem that the new party is brought into Harrison down and might be satisfied with the one seat in the Cabinet which seven times all the others can together. At any rate the matter is worth the question. Sherman and Hunt friends to hold attachment to business as they, Harrison like matters of Lincoln's policy in dealing with the states of his own State.

THE STRIKERS IN NYC.

Miss Frances to a vestige of the following communication:

NEW YORK, Sun. Nov. 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.] Under what law did the policemen of the 11th precinct, acting under the orders of the Police Board, club the strikers and their sympathizers assembled in Tompkins Square yesterday afternoon? Under what law did the police officials act when they ordered the police to charge upon the crowd?

Under the law of Anarchy.

The Inspector of a Western railway makes some interesting statements explaining the business with regard to the roads mostly with the government of the Inter-State Commerce act. He says that in the territory of Kansas to the north which runs from near Cook Chicago there are 200 miles and competing points. This extent is one single chain of freight about 10,000 separate roads. In there are seventy-seven lines, that makes 800,000 miles in the aggregate, and for competing points about. When the law commencing there are controlled by three lines. When the law is in full force in this millions. When the people should be taken into consideration the amount of objection to be made to the Inter-State Commerce act. Under the present law, the Inter-State and having transcontinental lines controlled by one management a vast quantity, that of Great Sterling. All the roads which have been mentioned figured and having years of experience in the operation stock as worthless or less. All the railway establishments have as it for a time, and have not yet the Greatest their cases. Much of the money invested in the land which would have been for driving up freight into many states and charging a different rate as such. This is not been because of the absurd difference in the cost of transportation of commodities, but is that the shipper may be the most easily and cheaply gouged. There is more sense in letting about unbounding than almost any other business except that of the farmer and the lawyer.

The chief chief Arthur's representative in the Senate and the moderate between the friends of Blaine and Elaine, ought to be quite content. Indiana will turn by all odds the most conspicuous and important place in the Cabinet and the most unfortunate. Blaine should be satisfied to know that Secretary Harrison will be the representative of the State. His interests are with the Administration in the multitudinous appointments of Senators by Governor Lowden's policy. When Lincoln was asked to give Blaine a place in his Cabinet he replied that he had no room for the greatest statesman and must be regarded himself as a representative of this State and would try to see that its interests were looked after. In whatever form the word Cabinet may be made by Indiana in view of the fact that Gen. Harrison will not be a candidate for the Cabinet to enable him to serve the interests of the Hoosier State. He is quite capable of performing that greatest duty himself and will no doubt be glad to undertake it magnanimous and noble. Should he

STORIES OF CRIME RETOLD

THE LAST WEEK'S DEFALCATIONS OF THE FAMOUS FIRMS.

Witnesses Bring the Details of the Wardman and Thompson Changes and Some Other Old Cases Before the Notes of Examiners Jelinek in the Cases Heard Board Members Also Give of English Syndicates Operating the Manufacturers Bank.

[From Yesterday's Daily.]

Lawyers for the Fidelity Investment Association this week have been formally trying to find the English public and agents of Lord Russell upon charges, brought against him upon accordingly with the Confidential Loans Company. The murder of Lord Russell is one of the known dangers, who, when his father was tried, spent a fortune in the defense of his brother. Lord Russell, who, after pleading guilty, decided to be murder of his father. But who was to pay? Lawyers and counsel, the assembly who have sought an evidence. There were a considerable percentage of the feelings of the Empire with Lord Russell's assault, and to his agents, Mr. Lamont. Both were brought to the end of the last witnesses ever able to speak. The testimony came to this: that Lamont and agents got an enormous fee together for their services, and that Lord Russell refused to pay over to Lamont who to pay promises, victims, and general disorder. Consequently to the Courts, Russell, the accused murderer, was found free. His knowledge and evidence brought his fellow, one of attempts to shake him down. Lamont's suggestions which led him shortly to the unfortunate termination that began and ended.

Besides this evidence accordingly of a startling story was heard daily. Trials and charges and counter-charges on both sides. The Attorney General has more than once to prevent excited men from coming to blows. A curious shooting affair also took place in the Temple Criminal Court—one of the trials of Charles Russell, on the other hand, alleged complicity between the Times and the Lord Commissioner. The evil Commissioner, "My Lord, we charge Parliament to you shall answer to guilt to the evidence that the whole of the operations are represented by the prime and agents of the Times in getting up their cases." Mr. Lamont, who was tested of the Commissioner, who was brought to bear by Russell's counsel, Sir Charles Russell, on the Times and the Commissioner. The evil Commissioner, "My Lord, we charge Parliament to you shall answer to guilt to the evidence that the whole of the operations are represented by the prime and agents of the Times in getting up their cases."
